When we conſider the Value and Importance of your Majeſty's Life to the Happineſs of your People, we cannot be induced to believe, at a Period of general Proſperity, that any Individual in your Majeſty's Dominions, unleſs under the Influence of a diſordered Mind, could have been found wicked or

But however ſhocking this Event may have been to your Majeſty, it cannot but be a pleaſing Reflection to think that only Inſanity could ſuggeſt it; and the ſincere Congratulations of a grateful People will, we truſt, convey a Satisfaction of the pureſt Kind to your Royal Breaſt.

We beg Leave to add our Hopes and Prayers that your Majeſty's Reign over us may be long and proſperous; and that when your Majeſty ſhall be called to a brighter Crown and greater Happineſs than this World can give, your Poſterity, inſtructed by your Illuſtrious Example, may continue to future Generations the Bleſſings which we cannot reflect upon but with Hearts warm with Affection and Gratitude.
